Plans Complete for Fire Dept. Free Dance Sat.

Department Has Busy Week With Six Calls; Many Grass Fires

Plans for the free dance to be sponsored by the Antioch fire department were completed at a special meeting of the department Tuesday evening. Committees for the dance reported that arrangements have been made to handle the affair. The firemen will prepare the new warehouse at Pregezer's resort on Friday evening and indications are that a large crowd of merry-makers will attend the dance.

Ralph Trieger's new band has been engaged to furnish music and reports on the orchestra show that local "hep cats" will enjoy the music. Sidney Hughes, saxophonist, is a featured member of the orchestra. "Sid" had wide experience in the dance music game while a member of the armed forces.

Plenty of refreshments will be available at the dance and other games and entertainment will be arranged for, according to the committee.

Many More Calls During Week
Chief Clete Vos issued an appeal for co-operation among persons living in the subdivisions surrounding Antioch to use extreme care in avoiding grass fires. "These fires are expensive," said Vos, "and many of them are a result of carelessness. Each year grass fires cause considerable damage and cause a great waste of time." He added that besides the danger of burning buildings and other equipment, grass fires are a factor in cutting down the number of upland game birds.

The department answered six calls during the past week, four of them grass fires, one a case of exploding oil stove and fire which caused an estimated $12,000 loss last Thursday at the Tip Top Inn, Trevor road. Damage to building was limited to the front part of the building, which was a total loss. The fire was of unknown origin, and the local department was called in to assist the Wilmet Fire department.

A grass fire at Loof's camp, Bluff lake, was responsible for a call Monday afternoon, and two such calls were received Saturday afternoon, one south of town on route 21 and one at Cross Lake. The oil stove fire occurred Friday afternoon at George Crowley farm, State line road, and damage was limited to the stove itself.

Veterans Are Given Scholarships to Illinois Schools

Honorably discharged World War II veterans, who were residents of Illinois at the time of entry into service, and who possess all necessary entrance requirements, are entitled to a scholarship to any state normal university or teachers' college or the University of Illinois.

This law, approved May 1, 1945, is found in par. 30-5, chapter 122 of Illinois revised statutes. It also provides that honorably discharged non-residents who, at the time of entering service, were students at the University of Illinois or the normal schools, may complete their course of study without tuition or matriculation charges.

It was pointed out by Illinois Service Officer A. F. Reutlinger at American Legion Home, Waukegan, Ill., that this law will be of great benefit to veterans whose service was not long enough to secure four years of college under the G. I. Bill.

He also draws attention to another Illinois statute which provides similar scholarships to children of veterans who died in service, and who are also granted $150 per year as an education allowance, starting with the age of 16 and continuing, if in school, to their 22nd year.

Legion Carnival Is Huge Success

The Antioch Legion Post and Auxiliary report that the carnival staged last week was a complete success, and the sufficient money to carry on the work of both organizations for the coming year was realized.

Good weather conditions, and the variety of attractions, were chiefly responsible for the large crowds which attended the carnival.

Members of the committees expressed appreciation for the fine spirit of co-operation displayed by residents of the community this week.

Rescue Squad Has Busy Day Wednesday

Four Calls Keep Squadmen Busy From 5:45 a. m. Till 11:25 p. m.

Antioch Rescue squadmen were busy Wednesday with the siren calling out four times during the day.

A call at 8:20 a. m. took the squad to the office of Dr. A. P. Bratrud, where they transported Jos. Fernandez to a Waukegan hospital. Fernandez had received scalp injuries in a building accident. The squad was called at 2:35 p. m. to take Mrs. Stoick, Lake Catherine, to the Lake County hospital.

Final call of the day came when three sailors from Great Lakes Naval Training station failed to make the curve at the intersection of route 59 and Grand Avenue. The car was driven by John Fox, who was unfamiliar with the road. Plunging off the pavement, the car ripped down a number of cedar guard posts as it passed through the enclosed triangle. Members of the squad who rushed to the scene found that Fox had been thrown from the car and was pinned beneath, and were amazed to find one of the posts within the car. Injuries to Fox were limited to head and scalp lacerations, with possible spinal fractures. Other occupants of the car were only slightly injured.

A naval ambulance arrived at the scene in time to take the navy men to the naval station and the weary squadmen at last finished the day's work.

No. Illinois Is Leader in Post- War Expansion

Northern Illinois leads all other areas of the United States in the number of new industrial plants for which contracts were let in the year following V-E Day, according to a survey made by the territorial information department of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois and based on copyrighted material furnished by the Engineering News-Record.

The ninety-nine plants locating in the Chicago-Northern Illinois area total more than twice the number established in any other section of the nation. The Los Angeles area ranked second with 47 new plants, while Cleveland was third with 40.

During the year Illinois' state-wide industrial facilities were increased by 112 plants, the largest of which cost $6,000,000.

New construction totaled over $48,000,000, Milburn L. Forth, the department's industrial economist, reported. He said that Illinois is well represented by smaller plants covering a widely diversified list of industries.

The state has maintained the same ranking in postwar expansion that it had occupied as a result of the accelerated wartime industrial construction program, he added.

Forth found it significant that the study showed "facilities for iron and steel, automobiles, chemicals, food products and petroleum comprising 60 per cent of the total value of new facilities."

"With the exception of food products, these were the same industries that led in capital investment during the war," he pointed out. "And they are among the leading industries of northern Illinois."

In the year after V-E day, contracts were awarded in the United States for 1,050 manufacturing plants and additions at a cost of over $689,000,000. Among the various states, Illinois and California, followed by Ohio, Pennsylvania and Texas, show the widest range of industrial diversification, based on new construction.

Expansion of facilities during the past year in northern Illinois represents 5.7 per cent of the total plant additions in the United States valued at $100,000 or more.

Legion League Team Wins One; Loses One

The Legion league softball team broke even on the week's games, losing one to Volo on Tuesday evening at the local diamond and winning one by a score of 6-7 at Round Lake last Thursday evening.

Tuesday's game almost ended in a riot, and was finished under protest. The altercation started when decisions of the umpire, who was from Volo, were disputed by local players.

The league team blossomed out in new suits for the games this week, and Ed Frazier, athletic director for the Legion, said that the suits had been donated by Bussie's Tavern.

No. 2 Team Loses
The Legion match team lost a hard-fought game Wednesday evening to a team representing the North Chicago Hardware Foundry.

Games on schedule for the coming week include a benefit game to feature the Legion League team and the Legion match team. Receipts from the game will be used to defray medical expenses for Eddie Crawford, who received a shoulder injury in the game Thursday evening at Round Lake.

New suits for the No. 2 team are on order and it is hoped that they will arrive in time for next week's games.

10th Citizenship Conference To Be Held July 16 to 19

"The home should be the center of every woman's interest but not the circumference." The Illinois home bureau plans to help widen that circumference for its members at the tenth annual Organization and Citizenship conference to be held at MacMurray College, Jacksonville, July 16-19, with this quotation as its theme. Each county is entitled to send two delegates. Those attending from Lake County are Mrs. Carl Fink, Wauconda, Illinois and Mrs. E. J. McDougall, Antioch, Illinois according to Home Adviser, Mrs. Helen Volk.

The conference is given each year by the Illinois Home Bureau Federation and the University of Illinois to promote wider community interests among homemakers and to create better home bureaus. It provides an opportunity to discuss various community projects and such organization problems as budget and membership.

Three Cases of Polio Reported in Antioch Twp.

Medical Men Give Advice to Parents on Preventa- tive Measures

Three cases of polio have been reported in Antioch township during the week. All three cases were discovered in Woodcrest subdivision, Channel Lake, and all three cases are small children.

Dannette Stratton, four-and-one-half year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Stratton, was the first to be attacked and the disease was discovered last Saturday. Dannette is the granddaughter of Mrs. Margaret O'Brien, a resident of the subdivision for many years. She is reported to be responding to treatment, by Dr. A. N. Berke, who is in charge of all three cases.

Lynn Kapell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kapell was stricken Sunday by the disease and was hospitalized immediately. She is reported to be improving.

Lewis Conover, son of Mrs. H. Conover, was hospitalized on Wednesday, and no report of his condition is available.

The cases here are thought to have been transmitted to the children by the son of a summer vacationist, who has since been hospitalized in Chicago. Not much information is available, but the family name of the lad was Sutton and the family occupied a cottage adjacent to the Kapell house. The Stratton and Conover homes are adjacent and the Kapell home is directly across the street.

Since rumor had it that cases in the township numbered nine or even twelve, a survey of doctors of the region was made this morning. Only the three cases reported above were unearthed, and it is the general opinion of the medical men that no epidemic will occur.

When asked what steps should be taken by parents to avoid infection by the disease in their children, they said that parents should watch for respiratory disorders, colds and nasal infections, since symptoms of polio resemble those of the above. Stiffness or pain in the joints is also a danger sign, and a physician should be called immediately if any sign of this is detected. Persistent headache in children is sometimes a sign that the infection is attacking the brain nerve centers, which is the part of the disease which causes the paralysis.

All doctors interviewed were emphatic in urging early diagnosis and treatment of the disease, and all stated that proper treatment if begun while the disease is in its early stage will prevent or minimize crippling.

Illinois Post-War Planning Comm. to Visit "Andyvilla"

Tour of Northern Illinois Sat. Will Include Con- servation School

An outing and inspection trip of the Illinois Post-War Planning Commission will lead the members and guests to Antioch and the home of C. K. Anderson on Lake Catherine this Saturday.

The outing will start at Aurora and guests will motor through most of Northern Illinois, visiting St. Charles, Elgin, Dundee, Carpentersville, Richmond, Antioch where the caravan will be entertained at Anderson's home. After leaving "Andyvilla" the guests will visit the Conservation School at Lake Villa, where the outing will end.

Several members of the commission and their guests will spend the weekend at Anderson's.

Rearrange Postoffice Equipment This Week

Many patrons of the Antioch postoffice took a second look to see whether or not they were in the right place on Monday morning of this week, for the office was completely changed around.

The boxes, which were formerly lined up down the center of the building are now set at right angles and the parcel post window has been moved up next to the two windows in the front part of the room. The move was made to provide more room for the staff to handle the greatly increased amount of mail which passes through the office daily, according to Postmaster Kufalk. He added that the new arrangement will save many steps for postal employees.

Report of Township School Treasurer is Published This Week

A detailed financial statement, showing all expenditures and for what purposes they were made, as well as a complete statement of receipts, is published in this issue of the News, by Township School Treasurer George B. Bartlett.

Annual publication of a detailed statement is required by the Illinois statutes, and publication has always been made in Antioch township, although considerable trouble in other townships has been reported. Latest ruling by the attorney general is that tax funds may be withheld until publication of the report is certified.

Lions Club To Discuss Backing Rescue Squad

Main topic of discussion at the next meeting of the Antioch Lions club will concern a plan through which the club would assume financial responsibility for the Antioch Rescue squad.

Backers of the move state that the members of the squad have given freely of their time, both night and day, for several years, and that the task of raising the money for support of the squad should be assumed by some other group.

The Antioch Rescue squad has been self supporting ever since its formation some years ago. Most of the funds which have been used for regular expenses as well as for new equipment, have been raised by members of the squad through sponsorship of an annual dance.

It is believed that the Lions club will offer to underwrite all expenses of the Rescue squad as a part of the Lions club work for community betterment.

The meeting will be held at the 19th Hole, Route 59, on Monday evening, July 22, and officers of the club urge that all members be present to express their views on the proposition.

Recipe for Scarcity

A year ago, when the war ended, the American people were regaled from all sides with extravagant forecasts concerning the reconversion of industry and the production of consumer goods. According to the optimistic predictors, the country would soon be treated to an enormous flood of merchandise ranging from unlimited quantities of nylons to revolutionary new-era automobiles.

The truth has turned out to be the exact opposite. As Benjamin H. Namm, president of the National Retail Dry Goods Association, put it in a recent address: "I do not hesitate to state that there's less good, staple merchandise available at popular prices today than at any time in my experience as a retail merchant. There are less shirts, hosiery and men's clothing on retail shelves than at any time during the war years, when we were fighting two wars on widely separated fronts, maintaining an armed force of 12 million men and sending out vast quantities of goods under lend lease.

"We have governmental reports, of course that our production is the 'highest in years.' These figures, however, are grossly misleading. They take no cognizance of quality deterioration, the disappearance of low-price goods, subsidies or the greatly decreased value of the dollar."

So long as business remains the slave of politics we will have an economy of scarcity instead of an economy of abundance. * * *

In the Same Boat

"It is erroneous to assume that the oil industry is divided into two—antagonistic groups—'independents' and 'majors'—with entirely conflicting interests and objectives. As a matter of fact, in most respects the independents and the majors are 'in the same boat,' and —conditions which spell prosperity or depression for one group will similarly affect the other—There are conflicts of interests and viewpoints on many subjects as is inevitable in a highly competitive industry, but the points of community of interest between independents and majors in fundamental matters are more important than the points of difference."—A. Jacobsen.

Flower Boxes

Good flowers for window boxes are petunias, because they bloom constantly throughout the summer. The balcony type of petunias will produce trailing vinelike stems, which grow down over the boxes.

Portable Scrub Pail

Instead of lifting or shoving your scrub pail around, take a piece of board large enough to hold pail. Bore holes near corners, insert casters. Now the pail will move around easily and smoothly.

Hanging Towels

When hanging up towels, pillow cases and other flat pieces, hang over the line about two inches and pin down. This prevents sagging of corners. If the towels are thin, two can be hung at a time.

Superheated Air Flows Upward

One of the most dangerous aspects of fire when it gets started in a structure is the flow of superheated air upward. Water when allowed to pour downward will fill every area open to it, superheated air is the same only it flows upward.

Mr. T. Alfred Fleming, Director of Conservation of the National Board of Fire Underwriters explained that the superheated air goes straight up from the blaze following any vertical open area to the top of the building where it concentrates and rises in temperature as the fire grows. This air causes many fatalities and, when it reaches 1,100 degrees, will ignite any inflammable material. Fire walls and fire doors would prevent this superheated air from entering elevator shafts or stairways and localize the fire, he stressed.

To prove his point Mr. Fleming told of a recent New Haven, Connecticut blaze which firemen put out in the basement of a building with a 2½ gallon extinguisher. Yet, Mr. Fleming relates, the superheated air had risen to the sixth floor and concentrated there. When the firemen were about to leave the building, they discovered the sixth floor was ablaze where the fire destroyed $1,800 worth of property, yet caused no damage in the basement.

Superheated air can fill a structure with lethal gases before its flow can be cut off by mobile fire equipment, which makes it vitally important to provide fire doors and fire walls to confine it before it has a chance to flow out of control. Fire prevention measures can provide ample protection against this flow of lethal gas. * * *

Health is Not a Commodity

The Citizens Medical Reference Bureau in a recent report declared that compulsory health insurance would result in medical control of the individual by the government.

"The practice of the healing art is not a commodity which can be bottled up at a fixed price per person," the report states. "What is meant to one person is poison to another—"

"Any attempt by the government to establish and maintain a monopoly of the healing art by compelling all wage earners to contribute to the support of such a monopoly must inevitably stifle progress and foster a mediocre type of treatment—"

"The labor difficulties experienced during the past year and the food crisis at home and abroad should serve as a reminder that the Federal government has its hands full to handle its own problems without endeavoring to take over the personal problems of the state and the individuals in the respective states."

It is possible to extend Federal assistance to the states in such matters as tuberculosis and venereal disease control and child welfare without establishing a medical dictatorship in the process. The very great progress made in voluntary health insurance in recent years points to the solution of medical care problems in the nation.

ROBERT IVERS stood in amazement before a chestnut mare which had just been backed out of a trailer at the county fair grounds.

"I can't for the life of me understand why Alex Dorney would me this beautiful Arabian," he said to Anderson, a cowboy who had gone to the Dorney Farms for her. "I've known him for twenty years, and the proud old skinflint has never given away horseflesh of any kind. This animal appears to be in perfect condition—look at her fine head and good forelegs."

"You're lucky to have her for the fair, Mr. Ivers, because I had a tough time getting her off the farm. The widow is at some resort, and it seems as if there was something special she wanted to tell you before you took Namila away. I told the stable hand that it could wait." The cowboy paused to run an appraising eye over the animal.

"Dorney knew I'd have bought a young mare like this from him," Ivers spoke as if to himself. "I can't believe that he loved me enough to give her to me outright, when the rest of his horses went for such fancy prices."

Anderson grinned affectionately at his boss and remarked with an air of profound wisdom, "Horsemen do crazy things, Mr. Ivers. Maybe he just couldn't stand the thought of selling her. Old Dorney was mighty fond of her. He never allowed anyone else to ride or groom her. The fellow at the farm told me she was a beautiful jumper too when Dorney rode her—though once he tried her out when the boss was gone, but she wouldn't take a fence and was mighty hard to handle."

"Well, I have to go into town. I'll come back later tonight and see how she's getting along, Anderson. Better get your car and trailer out of the way; quite a few of the horses are being brought in for the show. And remember, tell no one how I got Namila. There's nothing like a good secret!"

The new owner thrust out a hand and patted the mare's neck. Namila flinched slightly, then turned and rubbed her velvet nose against his arm in an unexpected gesture of friendliness.

Toward ten o'clock Ivers drove out to the fair grounds. As he approached, a fire siren screamed and he pulled aside to let the big red car tear past. Now thick smoke was visible in the vicinity of the stables.

He hurriedly parked his car and ran with all possible speed toward the section where Namila would be located. Someone had opened the individual box stall doors to permit the horses to escape. The animals were coming out only to plunge back in terror at the sight of flames spreading in all directions. Ivers made his way through the smoke and found Namila standing outside of her stall, nervously turning her head from side to side.

Where was he to find a rope or halter? Quickly he tore off his belt and was about to slip it around her neck when a dozen fear-crazed horses raced by, separating them.

Handicapped by the dust and darkness, Ivers lost sight of the mare. Then a flame shot up, and he caught a glimpse of her for just a moment, humped and frightened, making no attempt to go anywhere, but buffeted about by the terrified beasts.

Suddenly he found himself crying out with all his might, "Namila! Namila!" He kept repeating her name, not knowing what else to do. The sound of his own voice steadied him.

Then from out of the dreadful din came the gentle mare, ears pointed straight forward, head high, walking rapidly and surely toward him. Ivers was careful as he stepped to meet her. He must get hold of her this time. It might be his only chance. Quickly he slipped the belt about her neck and guided her beyond the wild confusion.

"What a sensible little lady," he spoke softly to her as he tied his handkerchief about a bad cut in her leg.

The fire was extinguished and the horses collected. Fortunately few lost their lives, though many were severely burned. Ivers devoted himself to caring for the injured. It was well after one o'clock in the morning when he returned to his hotel.

"There's a long distance phone call for you, Mr. Ivers," the clerk informed him. "You can take it here in the office."

"This is Mrs. Dorney," came an excited voice. "I heard about the fire on the radio. How is Namila?"

"She's fine, but how did you know she was here?"

"I telephoned the ranch this evening and learned that your man had taken her to the fair. There is something you should know immediately. No one has suspected it, as my husband had worked out a set of signals with her for jumping. He believed you were the man to handle her and keep her secret. She's always been blind."

Robert Ivers stepped slowly toward the elevator. "Blind," he muttered. "Blind."

"Oh, I'm so sorry, sir," the elevator boy said as he stepped forward to assist him into the cage. "You should carry a white-tipped cane, you know."

Found: One Billfold;

Lost: One Japanese

The other day he received the lost article from Seattle coast guard headquarters with note reading: "Wallet found on dead Jap on Salpan." The $60 was missing.

Salve, Spoon and Soap Aid Escape

Convict Tells How He Broke Out of Texas Jail.

HOUSTON.—Frank Mullins, sitting quietly in solitary confinement, told how he broke out of an "escape proof" death cell in Edinburg, Texas, jail last June with a spoon, a jar of nose salve and a starvation diet.

He was serving a life sentence at the time and, because he already had established himself as a successful jail breaker, was placed in the death cell.

Mullins ordered a jar of salve on the pretext of using it for a head cold. He saved his soap and went on a reducing diet.

He started digging in the cement with an ordinary eating spoon. He pecked away at night and threw the dirt and cement dust down a two-inch drain pipe. During the day he placed a magazine over his diggings.

In two weeks' time he made a hole 12 inches in diameter through 18 inches of cement to an 18-inch drain pipe.

That night he took off his clothes, greased himself with nose salve and, pushing his clothes ahead of him, started through the hole into the pipe.

He slipped into the pipe slowly and hopefully. "If I'd hit a curve or if the pipe had become smaller I'd been stuck. There was no backing up."

Mullins came out of a manhole in the back yard of the jail. There he scaled a high, double-barbed wire fence and was gone.

That was in June. In October he became involved in a running gun battle with police and was captured.

U. S. Decides to Ferret

Out Hidden Shirts, Suits

WASHINGTON.—Government officials said they would take action "in a day or two" to bring hidden shirts and suits back on the retail market.

The Civilian Production administration announced it would notify the clothing industry of its power to withdraw priorities from manufacturers if violations of hoarding regulations are proved.

OPA field agents are investigating alleged inequalities in the maximum average-price program. If inequalities exist, an OPA spokesman said, adjustments will be made to bring hoarded goods back onto the market.

The OPA and CPA announcements followed reports that a number of companies are withholding shipments of men's shirts and suits from the retail market.

Under the maximum average-price program, manufacturers are permitted to distribute only certain percentages of high-priced items. It forces them to put on the market larger percentages of low-cost clothing.

Manufacturers assert they are unable to get sufficient low-priced fabrics to produce enough cheaper shirts to allow them to sell better shirts.

For that reason, they say, the higher-priced shirts pile up in their warehouses.

Find Germans Have Slow Going on the Road Back

FRANKFURT, GERMANY.—Gen. Joseph T. McNarney reported that Germany was making slow industrial recovery, but that restoration of a minimum sustaining economy was virtually impossible so long as the French hold out against treating the Reich as a single economic unit.

McNarney, commanding general for United States forces in the European theater, said resumption of industrial production has been authorized in about 30 per cent of the plants in the American zone but shortages of transportation, coal and power limited production to from 5 to 10 per cent of normal capacity.

In his first report as new military governor for the zone, McNarney said the Allied control authority was still deadlocked in the basic matter of establishing administrative agencies for Germany.

The police chief was asked to tune his radio so the Yanks in Attu could enjoy music "without a riot being reported at Sixth and Main."

Refrigerator Market

Latest available figures of the Rural Electrification administration indicate that only 40 per cent of the approximately 2,600,000 farm homes now electrified have mechanical refrigerators.

Indian Projectile

A heavy nose, a light heel and plenty push behind it, was the American Indian's idea of a projectile in the "bow and arrow" days.

Fresh Eggs

Eggs stored in water glass at home are satisfactory for cooking or baking, but fresh eggs are more satisfactory for frying, poaching and scrambling.

Erysipelas Germ

The swine erysipelas germ has been known to cause losses in turkey flocks and to produce a serious type of stiff lamb disease (arthritis).

Scrape Off Fat

Give more attention to scraping dishes, pans and containers of fat. A rubber-tipped dish scraper of the type selling again at kitchen supply counters is one of the best utensils for removing that last bit of fat—or any other food.

As we were saying—

By Jack and Louie

Howdy Folks: Some one has said that a man cannot work eight hours a day at his trade and write popular songs as a side line.

That's funny, we thought that some of the current crop had been written by shepherders.

And some of the singing commercials must have been written in the booby hatch.

Now days, what isn't worth saying is sung.

Our neighbor says that contralto is a sort of low music that only ladies sing.

And we suppose the tune the old cow died on was in beef flat. Wow.

After that one, we better get down to business. Speaking of business, we certainly want to express our appreciation for the unusual patronage you have given us lately. Thanks.

Eavesdropper

The word "eavesdropper" is derived from "eavesdrop," meaning the width of ground around a house or building which receives the rain water dripping from the eaves. A person who stood within the "eavesdrop" of a house—close enough to pry into others' business or listen to secrets—was called an "eavesdropper." Eavesdropping is still a common law offense.

Equals Bread

An average serving of oatmeal without sugar and cream equals approximately two slices of bread in food value.

Girdle Tape

Since many girdles are still made with tape instead of elastic garters, it's a good idea to substitute elastic you buy by the yard for this tape. Also, since the metal grips on many present-day garters are of low quality and likely to cut the stocking, replacing them with higher quality grips from old girdles is a very good idea.

Fires Costly

Fire losses for one year in the United States amount to enough to build 75,000 new homes costing an average of $6,000 each.

Troop Movements

Railroads moved nearly 43 million members of the armed forces in organized groups in the period from December, 1941, through August, 1945.

Blind Children Hear Steel

The authentic sounds of steel mill processes were recently recorded by the Steel Institute and used to make an educational record for blind children.

Liked Pies

Pies were often served at every meal during colonial times. Enough pies for the entire week were baked at one time in huge brick ovens.

Cuts Washer Efficiency

Don't put too much water in the washing machine. It will cut down the efficiency of the washer and causes excessive splashing.

Cotton Picking

Even when labor is cheaper than it is now, picking cotton by hand absorbs at least 60 per cent of the total cost of production.

Preheat Stuffing

Try heating the stuffing in a pan before it is put into a chicken, duck or turkey. You'll find it cuts the roasting time.

What Real Man With Backbone Can Do

LONDON.—Jack Singer sneezed as he drove to his home and it snapped a vertebra and dislocated his spine. In great pain, he finished his drive home and called a doctor. The medic had Singer get into bed, only to see his patient immediately leap out of bed. The vertebra had snapped back into place.

Modern Criminal Finds Lot Hard

Scientific Aids to Crime Detection Sure Fire.

WASHINGTON.—The lot of the modern criminal is a sad one indeed, for he is becoming less and less a match for the law enforcement officer with his increasingly impressive and effective array of scientific aids. During the fiscal year 1945, the FBI laboratory in this city conducted 136,098 examinations involving 194,455 specimens— which gives some idea of the importance attached to this new phase of modern crime detection.

Established in 1932 with a single microscope and one technician, the FBI laboratory has increased steadily in size until now it embodies well over a million dollars in equipment, and the scores of technicians are recognized authorities in their respective fields, handling all types of scientific criminological examinations. Whatever the case, the facilities of the FBI laboratory are always available to local, county or state law enforcement officers as well as to the G-Men and other federal agencies.

This co-operative service of the FBI is widely utilized. During the 1945 fiscal year, examinations were made in 2,414 cases from state and municipal law enforcement organizations, an increase of 53.8 per cent over 1944. In addition, 745 examinations were made for other federal agencies.

This work includes handwriting comparison, physics and chemistry, firearms and explosives, spectrography and numerous other scientific fields. A large collection of standards for such items as automobile paints, tire treads, rubber shoe prints, typewriters, paper watermarks, tapes and ropes—to mention a few—is maintained for comparison with unidentified evidence submitted in criminal matters.

Say Nazis Sold Russians

Into Slavery at $4 Each
NUERNBERG.—Nazi Germany created slave markets in which it sold captive Russians at 10 to 15 marks a head ($4 to $6 at prewar exchange) and subjected imported Polish workers to sterilization and prostitution, the Soviet prosecution charged at the war crimes trial of 22 ranking Nazis.

Prosecutor N. D. Zorya presented letters from Germans describing the fate of some of the thousands of Russians moved into the Reich from occupied territory in the east.

He read a press statement attributed to Fritz Sauckel, Nazi chief of manpower conscription, declaring that in 1942 alone two million slaves were rounded up from the Soviet union.

Zorya said another two million workers were conscripted from Poland, adding that "thousands of men were sterilized, while young girls were forced into brothels."

Fat Waste

Careless measurements, hit-and-miss methods, and unreliable recipes all may contribute to fat waste. A carelessly made cake that turns out an unappetizing failure, for example, is a waste not only of fat but of precious flour and sugar.

Painting Light Fixtures

Metal light fixtures that have discolored may be painted, like radiators, to match the woodwork, or to match the ceiling. Clean them with turpentine and fine steel wool. Remove as many ornamental parts as possible to simplify the design before painting. Semi-gloss paint on these is easier to keep clean than flat paint.

Dolling Up Liner

Enough paint to cover every house in a town of 4,500 is required to doll up in peacetime colors a 27,000-ton ship like the transport-liner West Point.

Rubber Burns

The most common cause of rubber burns in floors is soft wax or wax which has not been properly buffed. The common error is to apply too thick a coat of wax and then polish the surface only, leaving a considerable film of wax which, if it doesn't remain soft and sticky, will at least be susceptible to rubber burns.

Rhubarb Roots

Old rhubarb roots that have run out may be rejuvenated by dividing the crown into four pieces and replacing them in deep moist loam in early spring or in August.

Banker Steals $191,113 and Is Given 10 Years

Respected Church and Civic Leader Becomes Sucker For Gamblers.

TOLEDO, OHIO.—A small town banker and highly respected church and civic leader—until he became a "prize sucker" for gamblers—pleaded guilty here to embezzling $191,113 from his bank and was sentenced to 10 years in prison, says the Chicago Tribune.

Clarence Gordon Maze, 42, former cashier and director of the Home Savings bank in St. Marys, Ohio, sat in stony faced silence as Federal Judge Frank Koble denounced him in imposing sentence.

The judge said Maze took packets of new $1,000 and $5,000 bills out of the bank and tossed them away in unsuccessful gambling and having a good time with a woman other than the mother of his three children.

Home 30 Nights in 8 Years. "The gamblers must have rolled out the red carpet of welcome when they saw him coming," the judge exclaimed. "If ever there was a sucker, he was one."

Maze spent his time gambling away the bank's funds in Lima, Ohio, and other Ohio communities as far south as Covington, Ky., Judge Koble said. He disclosed that Maze's wife had told him her husband had not spent 30 nights at home in the last eight years.

The banker's defalcations began, it was disclosed, in 1937, when he was promoted from assistant cashier to cashier of the bank. Throughout the years he was taking the money, Maze was a civic leader and pillar of respectability in his home town of 5,500. He headed the local Red Cross chapter, clubs, campaigns, and civic betterment drives.

He blamed his high standing with his townfolk for prompting him to take the money. Through his attorney Maze contended in court that his salary of $225 a month was too low for a man of his responsibility and position.

Accident Is Undoing. Judge Koble agreed that the bank could not feel proud of the small salary it paid its cashier, but asserted this was not sufficient reason for the thefts.

"How he could carry on the way he did and escape the questions of bank officials and members of his community is beyond me," the judge commented.

Maze's luck in avoiding detection of his juggled accounts ran out last November 10 when he was injured in an automobile accident in Cleveland. While he was hospitalized in Lima, other bank officials performing his work discovered his defalcations. Maze then confessed and refunded $51,282 to the bank, but it was still out $139,831.

Traffic Toll in '45 Was 29,000 Dead; Big Increase

CHICAGO.—The National Safety Council estimated the nation's traffic toll for 1945 at 29,000 dead and more than 1,000,000 injured, an increase of almost 20 per cent over 1944.

Casualties in November and October increased 40 to 53 per cent, respectively, over the same months in 1944.

Reports showed that rural traffic deaths were almost twice as numerous as urban deaths in each month of the postwar period.

Three states, Mississippi, South Dakota and Georgia, showed improvements over 1944.

During 1945 124 cities registered decreases, 176 reported increases and 56 showed no change. Among the cities with 250,000 or more population, Newark, Buffalo, Oakland and Rochester, reported reductions averaging 22 per cent.

Forty cities had perfect records for the entire period. This list included Evanston, Ill., population 65,400; Medford, Mass., 63,000, and Lynchburg, Va., 44,000.

200 Victims of Hungary's Nazi Found in 2 Graves

BUDAPEST.—More than 200 bodies of slave laborers and Jews—some bearing marks of burning and others of live burial—have been discovered in two Hungarian mass graves, 2nd Lt. George Gerbner, former San Francisco newspaper man, said in a report to the United States military commission. Gerbner said a lone survivor of the massacre by Hungarian Nazis on November 2, 1945, led investigators to a mass grave in Pestszentlőrinc, southern Budapest suburb. The other grave was found in Kiskunhalas, about 100 miles south of the capital.

Groom Kisses Bride, 72, His Friend 50 Years

GLENDALE, CALIF.—A friendship of 50 years led to the altar for 71-year-old G. N. Robinson and his 72-year-old bride, Mrs. Nettie L. Durgin, who flew here from Boston.

"They kissed just like a young bride and groom," said Dr. J. Whitcomb Brounger Jr. after performing the ceremony.

The Robinsons, who first met when they had parts in a school production of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Patience," plan to live in Redlands, Calif. They both have been married before.

How Morgan Kin Married Pretty Japanese Dancer

Romance of Relative of One Of Richest Americans Is Told in Kyoto.

KYOTO, JAPAN.—An old man hunched over a charcoal burner to keep off the cold in his barber shop and told his story of the romance of a beautiful Jap dancer and a relative of one of America's wealthiest men.

The interviewer was a reporter for Stars and Stripes, army newspaper. The narrator was Barber Kato, now 70, who said the dancer was his sister and the American was George Morgan, whom he identified as a nephew of the elder J. P. Morgan.

Records show George Denis Morgan, cousin of the late J. P. Morgan, was married in 1904 to Yuki Kato, daughter of a Jap swordmaker of Kyoto.

Her Family Objected. This is Kato's story as told to Stars and Stripes:

Nearly half a century ago Morgan, a jolly, mustachioed American, came to a tea house in Kyoto where Yuki Kato was a dancer. Morgan was so charmed by her beauty he asked her to marry him.

Weddings between the East and West were not easily arranged in those days. The Kato family objected.

Morgan traveled a lot, and in time went back to America. He carried with him a doll in the likeness of Yuki Kato, and in a year he came back to Japan. This time he succeeded in arranging a wedding.

Wed in Yokohama. The wedding in the Oriental Palace Hotel in Yokohama was of such splendor that Kato can remember it vividly even now.

The couple went to live in Morgan's mansion near the Miyako hotel, where the U. S. 6th army staff resides today.

Later they went to America and still later traveled around the world before settling in France, where Morgan died. The couple was childless.

Mrs. Morgan came back to Japan. Now she lives secluded in a small house with one servant and a brown and white cat.

A devout Catholic, she visits the little gray church attended by many American soldiers stationed here.

Makes Aleut Easy: Just Say 'Sitzugisaxing'!

WASHINGTON.—All Americans with a dollar and a repressed desire to talk to Aleutian islanders may cease fretting—the interior department has published an Aleut textbook.

The tome, titled "The Aleut Language," is the result of the combined efforts of three scholars covering nearly 125 years, starting with a Russian priest in the early 1800s. It includes grammar and vocabularies in addition, it contains two Aleut songs.

Those who undertake to learn Aleut from the book are in for a bad time. Rules for pronunciation include the following:

"M" is "snorted" through the nose. "G" is pronounced "gutterally" midway between G and X."

The worst is yet to come. "Sitzugisaxing" means "I am at fault."

Macugisaxtagalikuging" means "I do with all energy, not sparing myself."

"Tunugalinaq sisag isluxtagalikugan" means: "He began to speak, although it was when he was 100 years old."

Is it any wonder?

German Wine Deal Costs American Officer $10,000

FRANKFURT AM MAIN.—Capt. William Atteberry of Shively, Ky., an American military government officer, has been fined $10,000 by a military court for black-market dealings in wine which netted him a profit of $968.37, 7th army headquarters disclosed.

The sentence was pronounced by a general court martial at Heidelberg and approved by Lt. Gen. Geoffrey Keyes, 7th army commander.

Atteberry said the profits were used to pay French authorities "as graft" for permission to make the initial purchase. His defense was supported only by his own statements.

Atteberry bought 23,095 liters of wine from the buergermeister of Alshelm, in the French occupation zone, and resold it to the buergermeister of Langenau, in the American zone, for use by American officers' and enlisted men's clubs.

Mexico to Speed Up Train Service to Texas Border

MEXICO CITY.—Streamlined trains and faster schedules will be put into operation between Mexico City and Laredo, Texas, on April 1. Francisco Lona, assistant international traffic manager of the National railways, disclosed that an agreement had been reached with the Missouri Pacific railroad for speeding up service. He said the 29 hour time between Laredo and Mexico City would be slashed to 12 hours.

Typographical Errors

That the eyes of the average person are not trained to observe typographical errors is revealed in experiments upon a group of students. Typewritten sheets with omitted letters, wrong letters and blurred letters made by typing an "X" over them, were given to the students to read. The average reader detected only 40 per cent of the omissions of letters, 22 per cent of the incorrect letters and 14 per cent of the blurred letters. The errors were best detected when at the beginning of words.

Mineral Rich

British Malaya is ribbed with cave-pitted limestone hills, and mountains of granite and quartzite ranging up to 7,000 feet. The greatest mineral wealth is usually found in connection with granitic formations, mainly in ores of tin, tungsten (wolfram and scheelite) lead, and iron. Gold is found in quartz veins, and in association with tin ore. The country has long ranked as the world's leading tin producer. Coal is mined from thin seams.

Bread Waste

One way to prevent bread waste is not to overbuy. Because bread becomes too stale for many people's taste in a few days, it should be purchased in small quantity. At home keep bread cool and well covered to prevent mold and drying out. If there isn't room in the refrigerator to store your well-wrapped loaf, keep it in a ventilated bread box in a cool place.

Navy Hats

Back in the days of sailing ships, when hats first were introduced into the British navy, they were made of sail cloth, heavily tarred to add stiffness. These hats were called "tarpaulins," a term which was also applied to the men who wore them. Later this was shortened to "tar," a name by which sailors have been known ever since.

Beer Legalized

The Cullen-Harrison bill, which was the modification of the Volstead act to legalize and tax beverages containing 3.2 per cent alcohol by weight, was signed by President Roosevelt on March 22, 1933. On April 7, of that year, beer and wine of that content became legal.

Natural Zoos

British Malaya is one of the world's greatest natural "zoos." The earth, the air, and the water are alive with exhibits—elephants and mouse deer, tigers and rats, rhinoceroses and tapirs, butterflies and buffaloes, birds, snakes and crocodiles—and fish by the riverful.

Sun Glare

Many persons, especially blondes, are subject to sneezing when first going outside in the bright glare of the sun. Eyes of light-pigmented persons also are said to be affected more from sun glare than the eyes of darker persons.

Eye Bends Light Rays

Light rays are bent three times by the eye in the process of forming an image upon the retina, according to the Better Vision institute. The first bending takes place in the cornea, next in the lens, and finally in the aqueous humor.

Cellar Steps

A helpful home hint is to paint the edges of the cellar stair treads with a band of white paint which will make them easier to see. It's very helpful to paint the bottom step solid white.

Disguise Symptoms

Dosing members of the family for every complaint of illness is a dangerous practice; drugs disguise symptoms and thus delay diagnosis and treatment.

Clean Surfaces
To insure a better paint job for indoor surfaces, clean off surface dirt with a brush or vacuum cleaner, and then wash to remove grease. Films before new paint is applied. The cleaning may reduce the number of coats of paint needed, as well as make a better appearing surface that will last longer.

LAKE VILLA

The annual summer sale of rugs, quilts, fancy work, aprons, etc. in combination with a white elephant sale and card party sponsored by the Woman's Society of Christian Service, will be held at the school gym on Wednesday, July 24 and doors will open to the public at 12 noon, followed by a dessert luncheon and card party at 2 o'clock. You will be interested in the display that the ladies have prepared for your selection.

Norma Ward, formerly of the Hein store in Waukegan, has opened the Reinebach beauty parlor and is ready to care for your needs in that line.

Mrs. Don Cremin and children, Billy and Sandra have gone to Cedar Lake, Ind., to enjoy a few weeks with relatives there.

Mr. and Mrs. John Leonard, of Lake Forest, called on the C. W. Reinebach family last Saturday.

Mrs. M. H. Gindich and daughters are spending a few weeks with relatives in Michigan. Dr. Gindich went with them Saturday and spent a few days.

Mrs. Bertie Rountree, of Nashville, Ill., came last Thursday to spend a few weeks with her sister, Mrs. Lulu Nelson, at her home at Monaville.

The Cedar Lake 4-H club held its regular meeting last week at the home of Mrs. L. Mattson. "How to Prevent fires" was the subject of a talk by Anna Mattson. The girls enjoyed a swim in Cedar Lake and a hamburger fry after the meeting. The Lakes Region Home Bureau unit which sponsors the club will meet with the club at their next meeting at Mrs. Roy Crichton's home.

The ladies of the Sewing Club enjoyed a luncheon and a social afternoon last Thursday with Mrs. Swanson at her home on Grand Avenue.

Miss Katie Schlunt, who has been an inmate of the German Hungarian home here for a number of years, passed away at the home last Friday following a stroke. She enjoyed the friendship of those whom she knew as friends, and was of a very quiet nature. The body was taken to Chicago for burial. She had very few relatives in this country.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hamlin enjoyed a trip to Dubuque, Ia., last Wednesday and visited White Pines Park in Illinois on Thursday before returning home.

Mrs. Lester Hamlin spent Monday with her sister, Mrs. Beemsterboer, in Chicago.

Vivian Ruth Malek's engagement to Ralph Lyle Bethke is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George J. Malek, of Berwyn, Ill. Her fiancé is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph P. Bethke, of Huron, S. D. Mr. Bethke was recently discharged from Great Lakes Naval Training center where he was a radar instructor. At present the engaged couple are being entertained at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Bethke in Huron, S. D.

Mrs. Malek was formerly Miss Anna B. Babor, daughter of Mr. James and the late Mrs. Anna Babor, who was founder of the Antioch Packing House and resided in Antioch many years.

The Rev. E. M. Flannery heard the official vows of Miss Marie Jeanette

Kaiser and Cpl. George J. Malek in ceremonies at St. Odilo's church in Berwyn, Ill., June 29. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Kaiser, was given in marriage by her father. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Malek, of Berwyn, Ill. The bridegroom's grandfather, Mr. James Babor, of Bristol, Wis., attended the wedding and dinner.

Miss Vivian Ruth Malek surprised her new sister-in-law Marie Jeanette

Malek with a lovely bridal shower on July 2, at her home, 2426 Clarence Ave., Berwyn, Ill. Miss Malek was hostess to fifty relatives and friends who extended their best wishes and showered the bride with beautiful gifts. The newly weds stayed these past two weeks with the groom's parents and are now enroute to Ft. Sam Houston, San Antonio, Texas, where they will make their home till his discharge in late November.

The System

By DEE CAMPBELL
McClure Syndicate—WNU Features.

TRYING hard to swallow his fear, Rolly looked Soapy Mike in the eye—almost. "You—you mean I have to pay you five dollars just so that I can sell ice cream bars on this street?"

Soapy Mike crossed his arms on his chest the way he'd seen it done in the movies, and did his best to look the way the toughest kid in the block ought to look. "That's exactly right! My gang decided we need a system if we're going to make any money selling Igloo bars. They wanted me to figure one out and I have. You got a nice wagon there."

Rolly nodded. "Yes..." He wiped a bit of dust from the top of the neat white pushcart with the big chocolate-painted Igloo bar dripping deliciously down the side. "But it'll take a long time to sell enough to get back the five dollars."

"That's just the point," Soapy pointed out. "When you pay the five we'll give you a spot all your own. None of the other fellows can go into your district."

"Well... all right," Rolly took out some crumpled bills and a handful of coins. "I'll only have fifteen cents left," he said slowly.

Soapy took the money with a grin and winked at the others. "Now you get the corner in front of Isso's fruit stand all for yourself," he said.

"Isso's?" Rolly breathed. "Gosh, that's a busy corner!"

"Sure," Mike nodded happily. "Now you see what a system does!"

The gang watched Rolly push his cart swiftly down the street.

There was a sly grin on Soapy Mike's face. "O.K., fellows, we did

Isso came running out to the sidewalk.

it again. I don't think Isso'll let him stand outside his store ringing that bell and selling ice cream. But just to make sure he won't let him stay, we're all going to help ourselves to Isso's fruit baskets on the run. Isso won't let him stay after that.

Everything worked out as planned. Rolly had just taken his place before the Italian's little fruit store and was waiting for a customer when Soapy and his gang swooped around the corner. They helped themselves and scurried off.

Hidden, they watched the unhappy Isso. Saw him turn and approach Rolly, wringing his hands and gesticulating excitedly. But something was wrong. Rolly wasn't hurriedly pushing his cart away as he should have been. Instead, he was talking quietly to the little Italian. Soon he left the cart and went into the store with Isso. When he came out a few minutes later he calmly took his place beside his wagon again and was soon selling Igloos to the passers-by.

Soapy Mike shook his head. "I just don't get it," he said, mystified. Finally he decided to saunter back along the street. "Something's going on," he said anxiously. "I'll find out what."

Rolly was busily selling Igloos to three little girls. He pocketed the nickels and looked up at Soapy with a big grin. "It's a swell corner," he said happily.

Soapy nodded without enthusiasm. He scraped his toe on the sidewalk, ill at ease. "Did—uh—did Isso say it would be O.K. for you to stay here?" he asked.

"Yes, thanks to you and the gang," Rolly said. "And what's more, he's going to repay me the five dollars I gave you."

"But the fellows taking the fruit," Soapy burst out. "He knew you were one of us. Why didn't he run you off?"

"Oh," Rolly said quietly, "he was going to before I explained things to him. But now he wants me to stay."

"Well, I don't get it," Soapy exploded in disgust.

"It's really simple," Rolly said. "Isso said your gang had been taking his fruit for a long time, so naturally he didn't want me to stay at first. But I told him how you kept your word about things. Then I explained about your system, and that did it!"

"System?" Mike repeated blankly. "Our system?"

"Of course! Isso will let me stay because, according to the system, none of your gang can come on this corner while I'm here. That way they won't be stealing Isso's fruit any more!"

We Fully Appreciate...

The committees in behalf of Antioch Legion Post 748 and their Auxiliary Unit fully appreciate the public's splendid co-operation in attending the annual Legion carnival operated last week in Antioch.

(Mrs.) Maud Johnson,
PresidentChicago and Northern Illinois—
"A Department Store" for Industry

"I make electrical relays and switches here in Chicago. My plant is small. A prospective customer recently called on me to place a substantial order. When he went through my factory he stated quite frankly he doubted my ability to produce the order. I asked him to reserve judgment and took him for a little excursion around the city. Within a few hours we visited my tool and die maker, a screw machine shop, three plating and finishing firms (each a specialist in a different type of finishing), a metal fabricator and other suppliers. 'You're not a small outfit, mister,' he concluded. 'You're in mass production with departments for every process at your finger tips.' He placed his order and I agreed to start delivery in 30 days... was actually shipping in three weeks. In today's market I find this diversity of facilities most helpful. To me, Chicago and Northern Illinois is a practical 'department store' of industry."

*Name on request.

This true story typifies the war-time operations of thousands of Chicago manufacturers who could not hope to provide for every manufacturing process within their own walls. It helps to explain why this area became the nation's subcontracting center, producing by the war's end 23% of the nation's electrical machinery, for example, and 40% of the electronic equipment.

Utilizing cost-saving techniques, many small manufacturers in Chicago and Northern Illinois are today in mass production, despite limitations of inside facilities and capital investment. They have learned how to produce and make delivery from this industrial area easily, quickly, economically—and in large quantity.

Our staff of trained industrial engineers is prepared to answer any inquiries about the many economic resources of this area. On request they will make a special detailed study, for your business, of the various factors which make Chicago and Northern Illinois such a strategic industrial location. This work is carried on without charge. All inquiries are handled confidentially and promptly.

Industries locating in this area have these outstanding advantages: Railroad Center of the United States • World Airport • Inland Waterways • Geographical Center of U. S. Population • Great Financial Center • The "Great Central Market" • Food Producing and Processing Center • Leader in Iron and Steel Manufacturing • Good Labor Relations Record • 2,500,000 Kilowatts of Power • Tremendous Coal Reserves • Good Government • Good Living

Send for free booklets containing useful information on these advantages.

This is the result of a series of advertisements on the industrial, agricultural and residential advantages of Chicago and Northern Illinois.

Mad Monk Alive?
Alaskans Believe
Rasputin Hiding

Out of North Comes Strange
Story of Lonely Vigil
At Island Grave.

ANCHORAGE, ALASKA. — The Far North yields a strange, new story—the possibility that Rasputin, mad, dissolute Russian monk, is still alive on a lonely Alaskan island, according to the United Press.

The tale, gathered from superstitious Russian-Alaskan Island natives and many not-so-superstitious Alaskans of Yankee extraction, is that Rasputin is watching the grave of a Russian priest on a desolate spruce island off Kodiak.

Gregory Rasputin, the "Mad Monk," was reported assassinated in Leningrad in December, 1917. He allegedly had exercised mesmeristic influence over Czar Nicholas II and the Czarina.

Another Mad Russian.

For years a number of Alaskans have believed that in the activity and physical appearance of an aged Russian monk, named Gerasim
Schmalz, is a clue that may combine two of the eeriest stories of Czarist Russia and Alaska.

One hundred and forty-seven years ago, a Russian priest named "Father Herman," told his followers in Moscow, before departing for Alaska, that he would return in 150 years.

Father Herman died in Kodiak that same year and was buried on the island. Since then his tomb has been guarded religiously by members of the Greek Orthodox church.

In 1919, Gerasim Schmalz arrived at Kodiak and took over the task of guarding the wind-swept tomb.
Natives and the few whites who saw him said he closely resembled Rasputin. Angered by repeated questioning, Schmalz went into hiding.

Found in Hideout.

Eustace Ziegler, famed Alaskan artist, surprised Schmalz at his hideout one day and photographed him, returned to his studio and super-imposed the gaudy ceremonial robes worn by Rasputin on the picture of Schmalz. Ziegler says the resultant photograph was identical with pictures of Rasputin.

The final, and to many Alaskans, main point in the speculation that Schmalz is Rasputin is that the Russian monk very well could be alive, as he would be 73 years old.

According to history, Rasputin was slain by Prince Yusupoff of the Royal Russian household, after the monk's increasing power over the Czarist court caused the grand duke and other to decide his death was imperative.

Yusupoff was said to have fed

Delinquency Among Girls

Is Stirring Up Experts

NEW YORK.—An unprecedented number of recent crimes and tragedies involving girls in their early teens is occupying the attention of sociologists, juvenile welfare agencies, and law enforcement officers.

And the consensus of the experts is that the "cradle crime" wave largely can be blamed on early sex sophistication.

Both girls and boys, it is declared, now embark on hectic romances at an age when, a few years ago, their inclinations would have led to no more than harmless "puppy love."

Typical of recent cases was a 16-year-old New York girl who was murdered by a slightly older admirer because "she went with other fellows." Another New York 16-year-old girl beat to death an old man because, she said, "he tried to hold my hand." The real trouble, according to psychiatrists, was that she was demented through overin-terest in sex.

Driver Trapped in Auto

By 4,800 Volts of Power

DETROIT.—William Molesworth, 25, sat for three hours in his automobile while 4,800 volts of electricity coursed through the car, and came out alive.

Molesworth was driving in North Detroit when his car skidded on an icy pavement and struck a utility power pole. A heavy transformer fell on the roof of the car, sending electricity through the structure and preventing Molesworth's escape.

Police advised Molesworth to sit still and touch no metal. Three hours later, trouble-shooters succeeded in getting him out. The crash fractured his jaw and injured his head, but the electricity did not harm him.

Austria Decides It Must

Give Up Radios for Food

VIENNA.—Austria is starved for workable radio sets and will produce an estimated 100,000 sets this year. This will do Austrian radio listeners little good, however. The government has decided that Austrians are too poor to afford such luxuries themselves so almost all the radios will be exported to get exchange to buy food and essential raw materials.
